Hi Yu-Ting and Billy,

We received an inquiry about the status of chlorpyrifos, diazinon and malathion risk assessments. The staffer checked our website that has the reg review schedule and wants to know if we're still on track. Can you confirm?

Pesticides Team,

Please see the request below from Maggie with Sen. Whitehouse's staff. She's asking about:

- status of chlorpyrifos, diazinon and malathion risk assessments
- general question on registration review components

Please let me know our response and if any questions. Thanks,

Sven

Subject: RE: Sen. Whitehouse Inquiry on Glyphosate

Hi Sven,

I hope you're well! I am reaching out with a few questions about pesticide reviews, particularly chlorpyrifos, diazinon, and malathion. Based on EPA's website, the agency is planning to release draft risk assessments for diazinon and malathion in Q2. In addition, the table shows a planned Q2 draft risk assessment and Q4 proposed interim decision for chlorpyrifos. Are all those risk assessments on track/have any of them been released? If so, what's the best place to find information on the status and content of these risk assessments?

In the chlorpyrifos case, you mentioned multiple assessments EPA is still working on – human health and ecological. Are all risk assessments comprised of these separate components or does this depend on the pesticide and its use? I'm trying to get a better grasp on how this process works!

Thanks in advance for any insight you can offer.

Best,
Maggie
